Information presented by Jordan Iddings about her research on Lollipop Power Press in ENGL 366

Chris Felix is a senior Biology major with minors in Chemistry and Music. He started his research as a rising sophomore in Dr. Baldwin's lab in the Lineberger

Comprehensive Cancer Center. The lab's main focus revolves around a transcription factor known as NF-kB while Chris's focus is mainly on STAT6, a protein that regulates cell differentiation and growth. Also, he is writing a literature review with Dr. Miranda van Tilburg on irritable bowel syndrome in adolescents.
